Weave your way to new opportunities at Yarn Expo Spring 2025

As Asia's largest yarn and fibre trade fair, Yarn Expo Spring 2024 concluded successfully in March with a strong 515 exhibitors from China, Asia-Pacific and beyond. Sustainability shone across the 27,000 sqm stage, as exhibitors from around the world showcased their eco-friendly innovations and sustainable product ranges. Threaded throughout multiple sought-after product categories, this growing trend not only reflects the evolving industry landscape but positions related exhibitors well for future market success.

The rise in internationality, highlighted by a 90% increase in overseas visitors and the participation of new exhibiting countries at the 2024 edition, underscores Yarn Expo's ability to foster connections and facilitate global trade within the industry. Exhibitors' experience: maximising market potential worldwide

"The synergy created by the concurrent shows provides access to a vast customer database, and our booth at Yarn Expo has been busy with buyers from around the world. We are presenting a wide range of products, including standard yarns, specialty yarns, and development-intensive yarns. The Chinese market has always been a priority for us, and given the positive outcomes, we will continue participating at this fair."

Mr Ankur Baheti, Business Head, RÜTEX Textile Private Limited, Germany

"The continued attendance of Indian suppliers is due to the effectiveness of Yarn Expo as a business platform and the attraction of the vast Chinese market. India's textile industry chain and competitive advantage in quality and price have drawn many buyers to our booth, especially for India's popular twisted cotton yarn. We are grateful for this international platform's valuable opportunities to expand our exhibitors' global presence."

Mr Murali Balkrishna, Joint Director, The Cotton Textile Export Promotion Council, India (Support of Indian Pavilion)

Buyers found success at Yarn Expo Spring 2024

"This is China's largest yarn and fibre fair, showcasing various materials, from semi-finished to finished products. We attend to spot market trends, new technologies, and fresh development ideas, particularly seeking functional fibres. Foreign brands have increased participation, highlighting China's strong market. The future holds promise as the domestic market prioritises functional materials for health, safety, and comfort."

Mr Tyler Shi, General Manager, Zhongshan Hai Pu Nuo Si Biotechnology Co Ltd, China

"I'm from a trading company and we have our own dyeing and knitting facilities. I'm sourcing various types of fabric, including blended fabrics. The scale of the show is much bigger than before. I'm happy with the exhibitors and have already placed a few orders. The demand in the Chinese market is good, and I'm impressed by the variety of items at the fair by foreign exhibitors from India and Pakistan."

Mr Ashraf Zaitoun, Director, Newtexas Thread Factory, Egypt
